

SPIRIT ATTACHMENT NIGHT ATTACK

(POEM)

-by Brian Edwards

Written May, 2018

May 6, 2018

Probably around

Two in the morning

Forgot to check the time

My attempt

To fall asleep tonight

Has so far failed

These spirit attachments

Who or whatever they are

Were harassing me

Pretty severely

With the voices

And the physicalbodily disturbances

I guess you could call it

A night attack

Because they so did it intentionally

A person's sleep

Seems to be

One of their favorite targets

I almost got there

I almost fell asleep

I could feel myself

Almost there

In my mind

In a vision

I could see it

The shore of sleep

So tonight
Is like so many
Other nights
I've gone through
Since it all began

Since it all began
After messing
With EVP

Crazy world
Crazy reality

So it would seem
There are voices
All around us

Tonight
Tomorrow
Tomorrow night
They'll still be there
The voices
The voices
That often whisper
Into our ears

Trying to intrude
Trying to interfere

I often wonder

If they Go after us all
But only some
Can actually hear them
More clearly

They are like
Some kind of
Audio atmosphere
Unto themselves

The voices
Harassing me tonight

The fight for sleep is begins again
Picked up
Where we left off last time

The fight for sleep
The battle for sleep

It's calmer
Right now
But this is probably
Just the eye of the storm

Another night
Voices
Wrecking my sleep

They do it

So damn intentionally

I know they do
